THIS IS OUR MARK
THE LION

WORD
MARK

CAIROKEE

AND.....
THIS IS OUR ONLY LOCKUP!

The vertical structure between the Lion and the Wordmark is our primary and only lockup. This ensures a clear visibility of both elements in relation to each other and strong brand recognition.

Restructuring the elements in any different way would compromise the elements integrity and visibility.

So please follow the recommended usage.

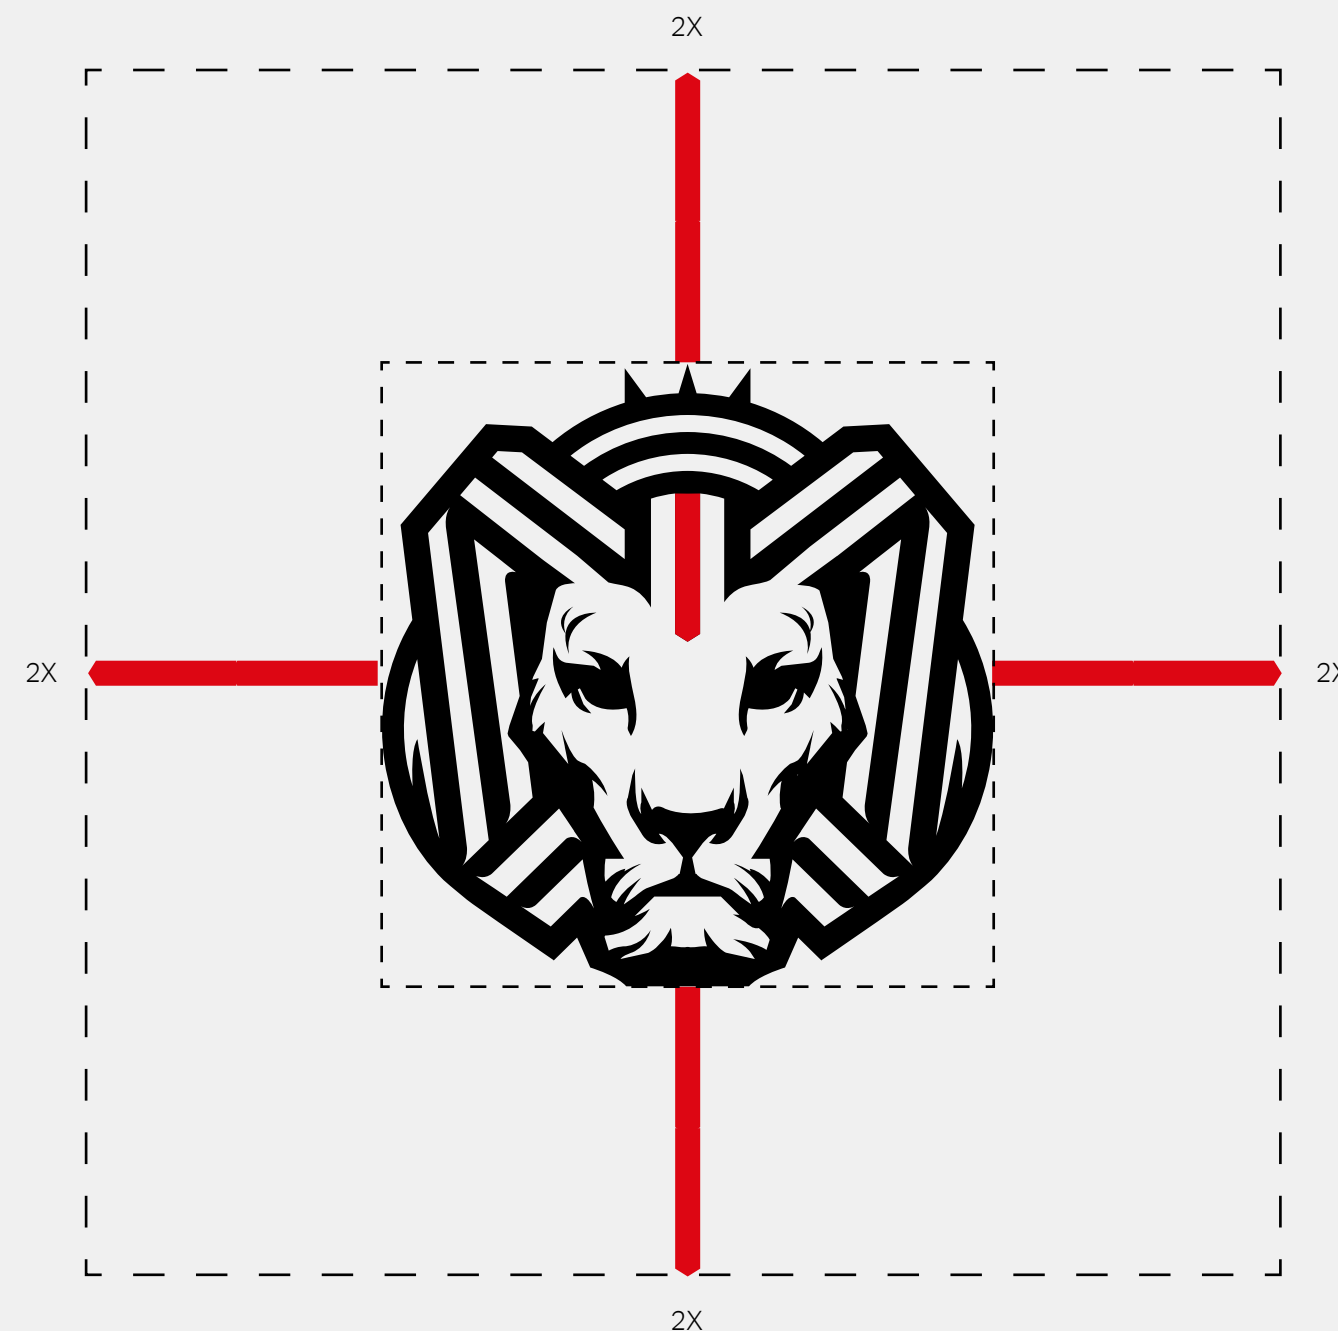

CAIROKEE

PLEASE RESPECT OUR SPACE

Our protection zone means a big deal to us. Please follow the next steps for creating it for the Lion (Alone) case.

Start by understanding our measuring unit which is referred to by the (X). Regardless of the Lion size, the (X) will always be equal to the height of his center forehead strip.

PLEASE RESPECT OUR SPACE

Following up on our protection zone, please follow the next steps.

The value of the (X) here is equivalent to the height of the letter (l), in relation to the wordmark size.

Duplicate the height of the letter (l) to create the value of (1.5X) and place it vertically for the top and bottom space, and horizontally for the left and right space.

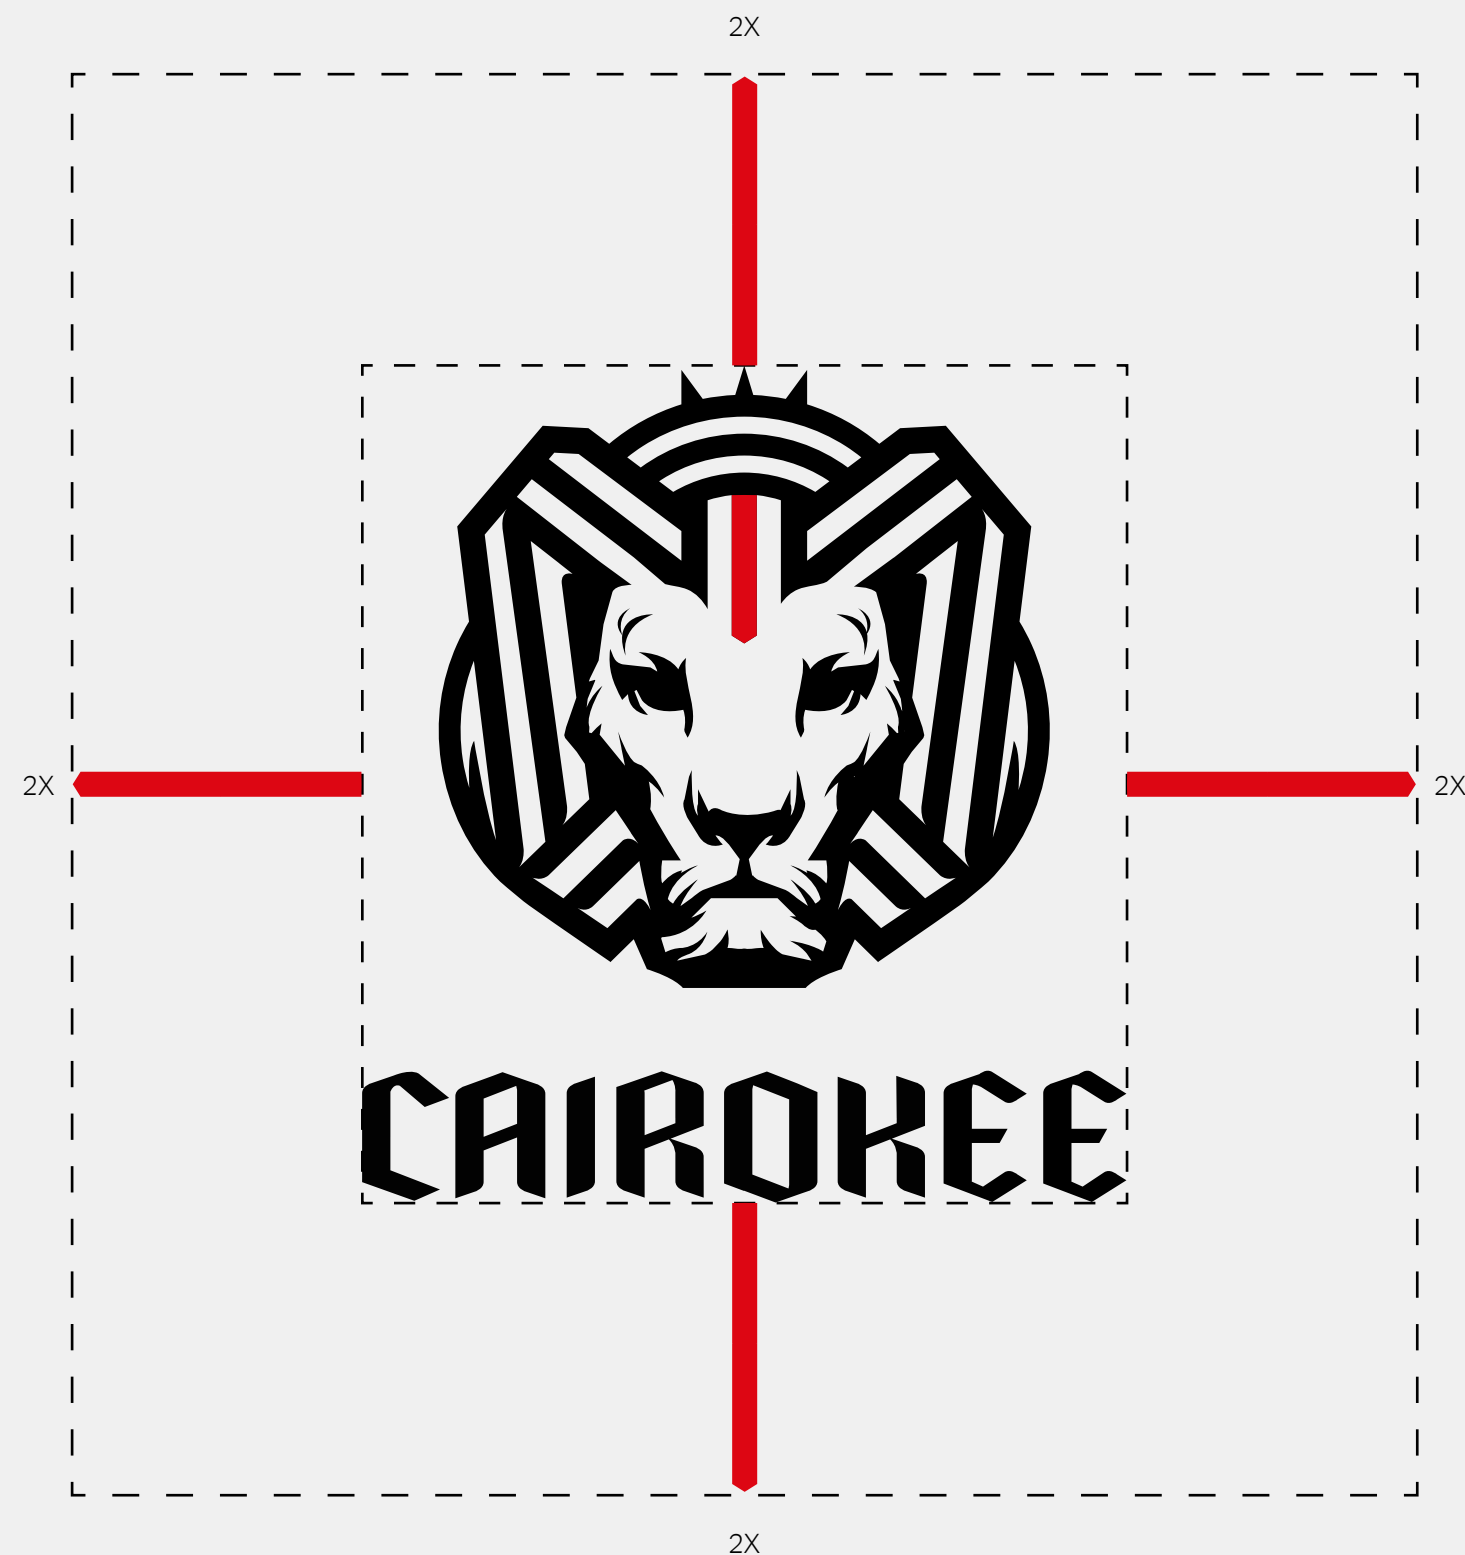

PLEASE RESPECT OUR SPACE

Still on our protection zone, for the last time we promise.

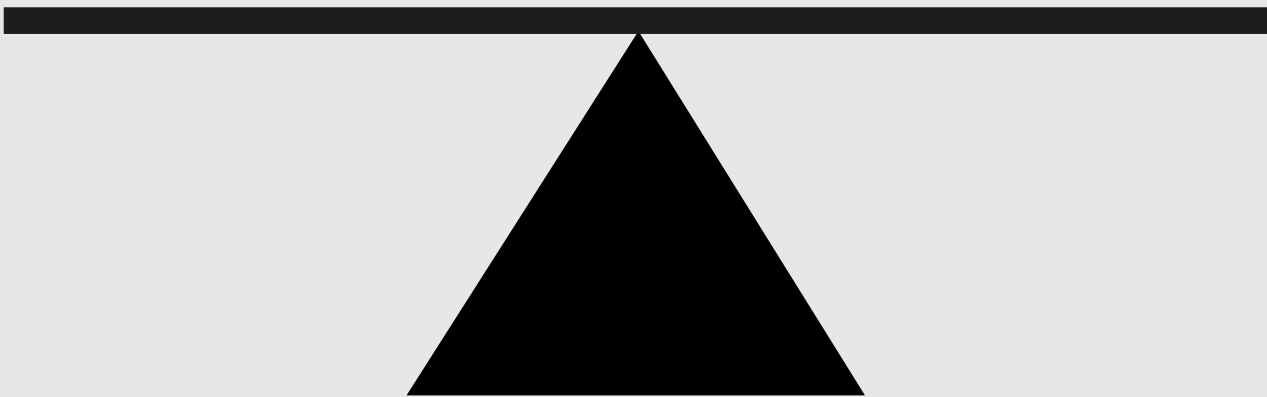

For our logo lockup case:

The value of the (X) here is like our first case, which is the equivalence of the height of the Lion's centered forehead strip, in relation to the Lion size.

First Case - Icons - Equal Weight
In co-branding cases of equal weight, using icons, we recommend using our icon alone (The Lion) to ensure better matching recognition in terms of size and structure.

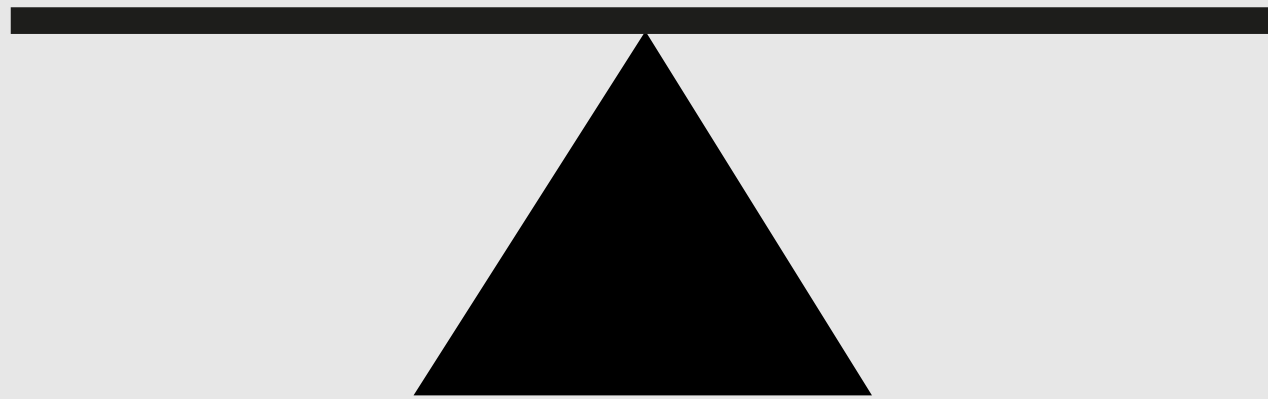

A guiding construction example for the first case, using the protection zone guidelines for the Lion icon.

First Case - Icons - Equal Weight

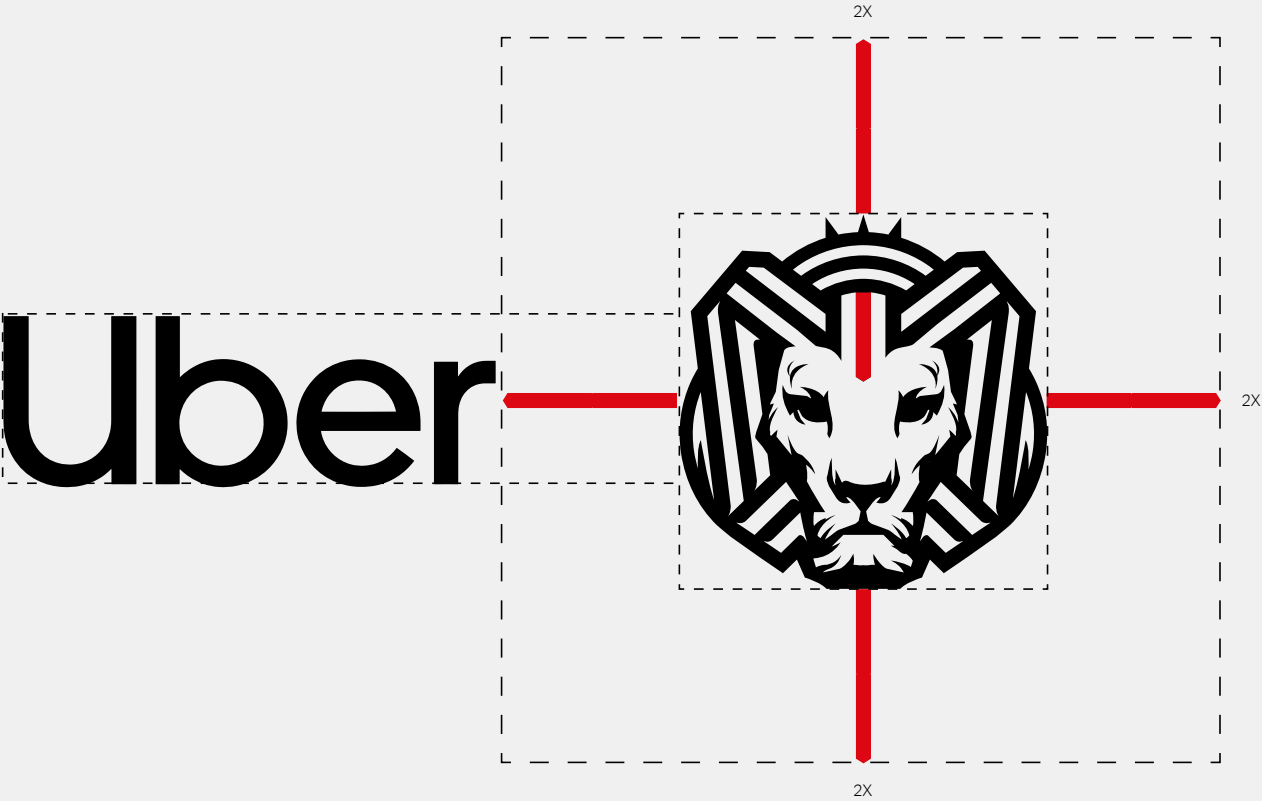

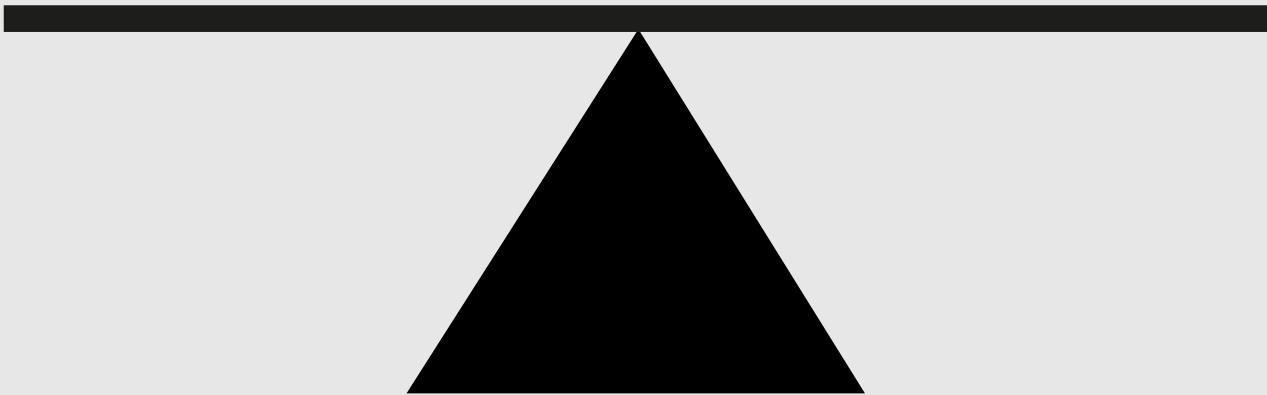

In co-branding cases of equal weight, using icons with short wordmarks, the usage of The Lion is possible. It's not our primary and recommended case, but it's acceptable only in the case of short wordmarks.

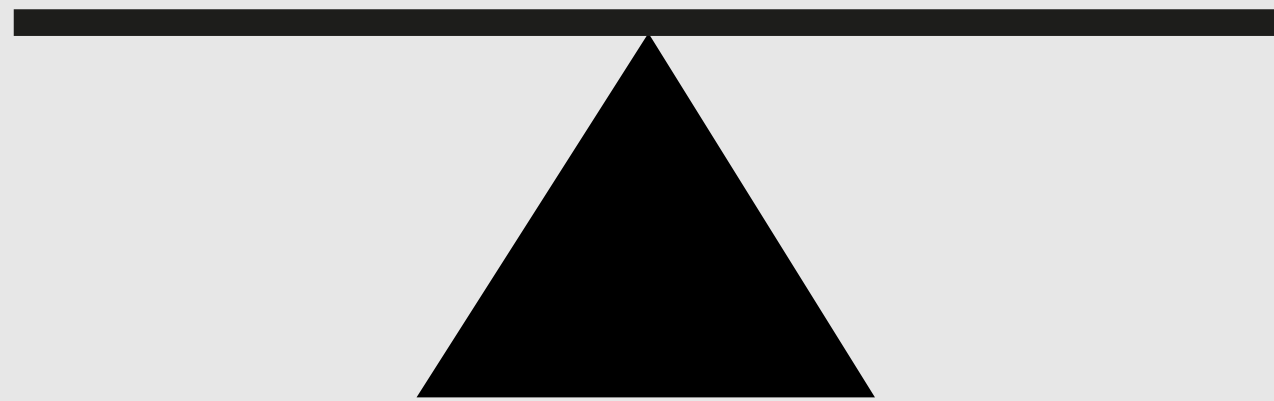

Uber

A guiding construction example for the first case (Short Wordmark-Icon), using the protection zone guidelines for the Lion icon.

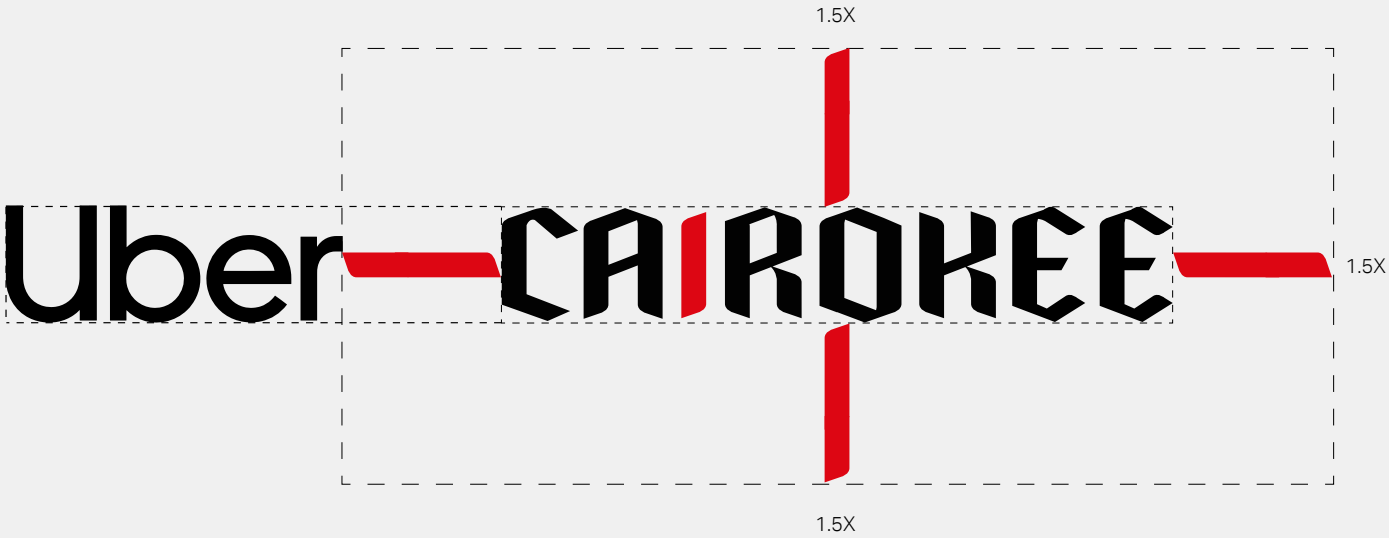

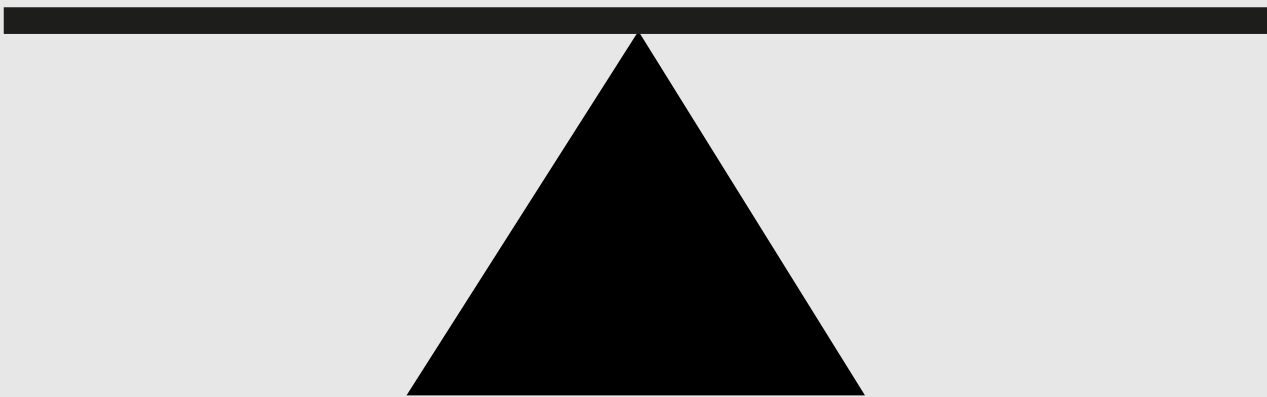

Second Case - Wordmarks - Equal Weight
In co-branding cases of equal weight, using wordmarks, we recommend using our wordmark alone to ensure better matching recognition in terms of size and structure.

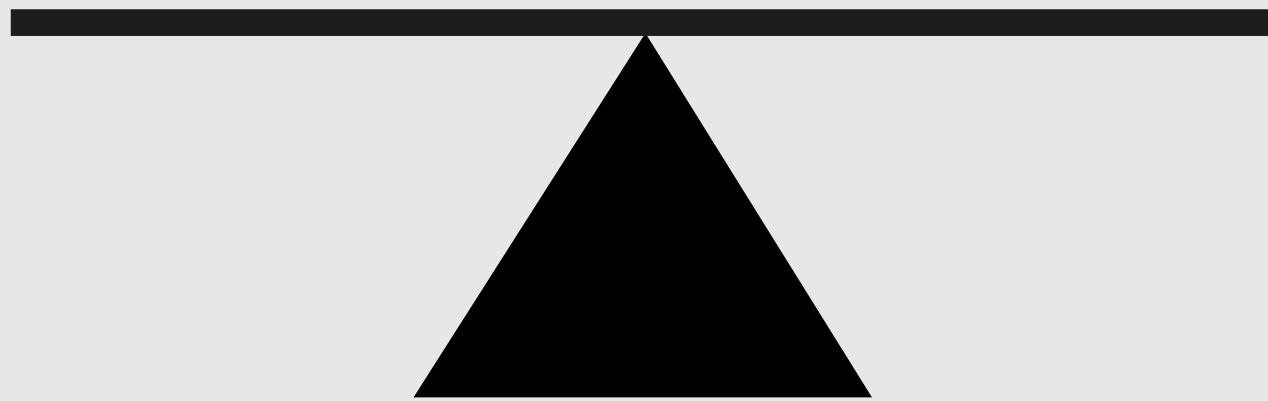

Uber CAIROKEE

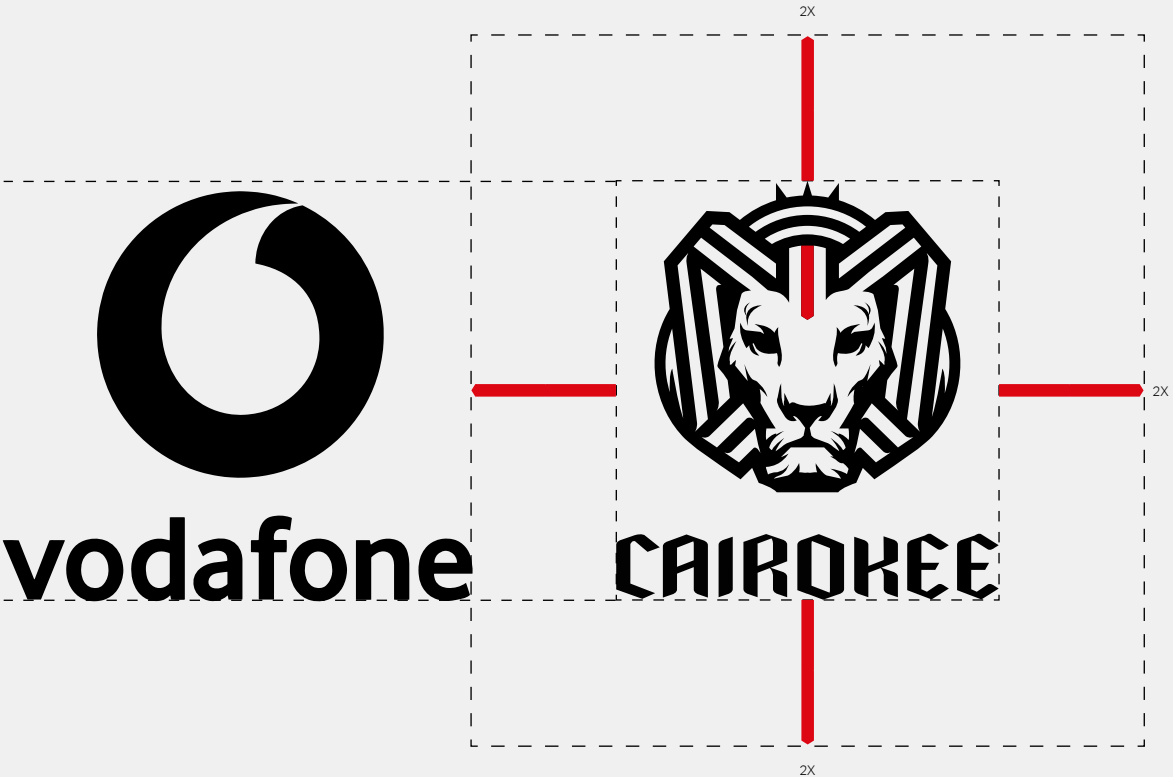

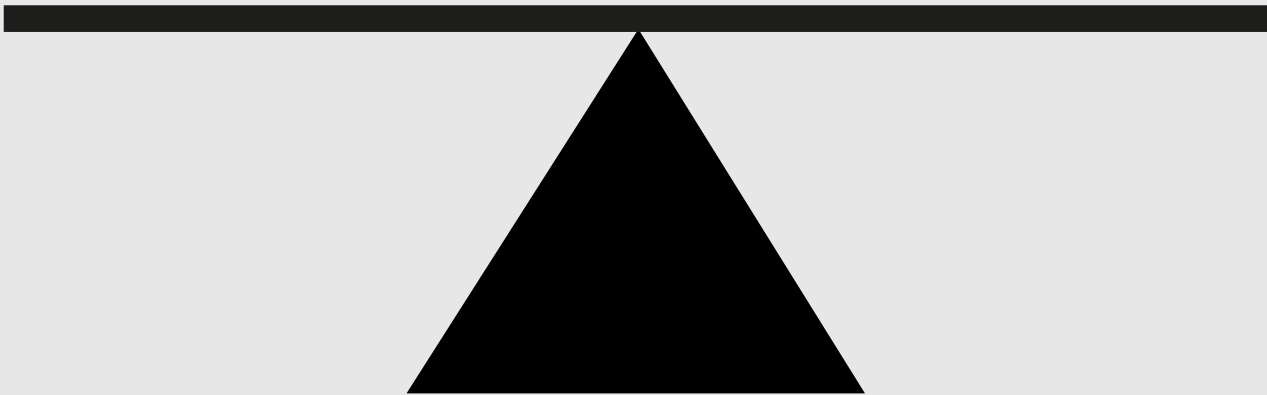

A guiding construction example for the second case, using the protection zone guidelines for the brand wordmark.

Third Case - Logo Lockups - Equal Weight
In co-branding cases of equal weight, using logo lockups, we recommend using our logo lockup alone to ensure better matching recognition in terms of size and structure.

A guiding construction example for the third case, using the protection zone guidelines for the logo lockup.

Uber

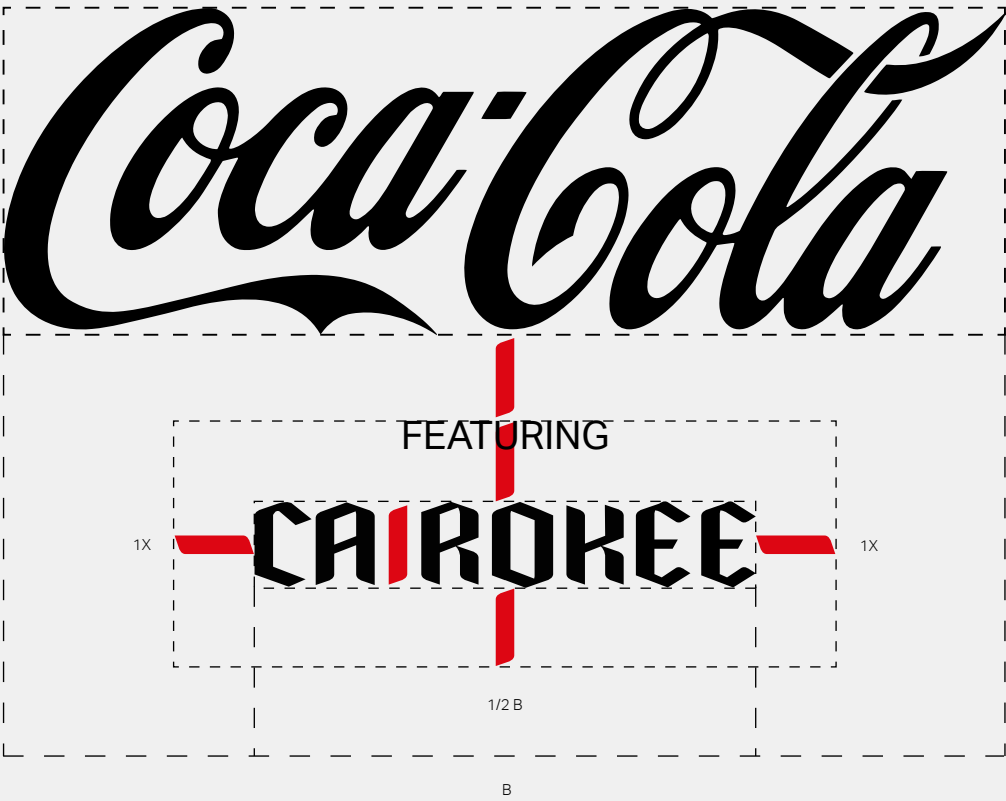

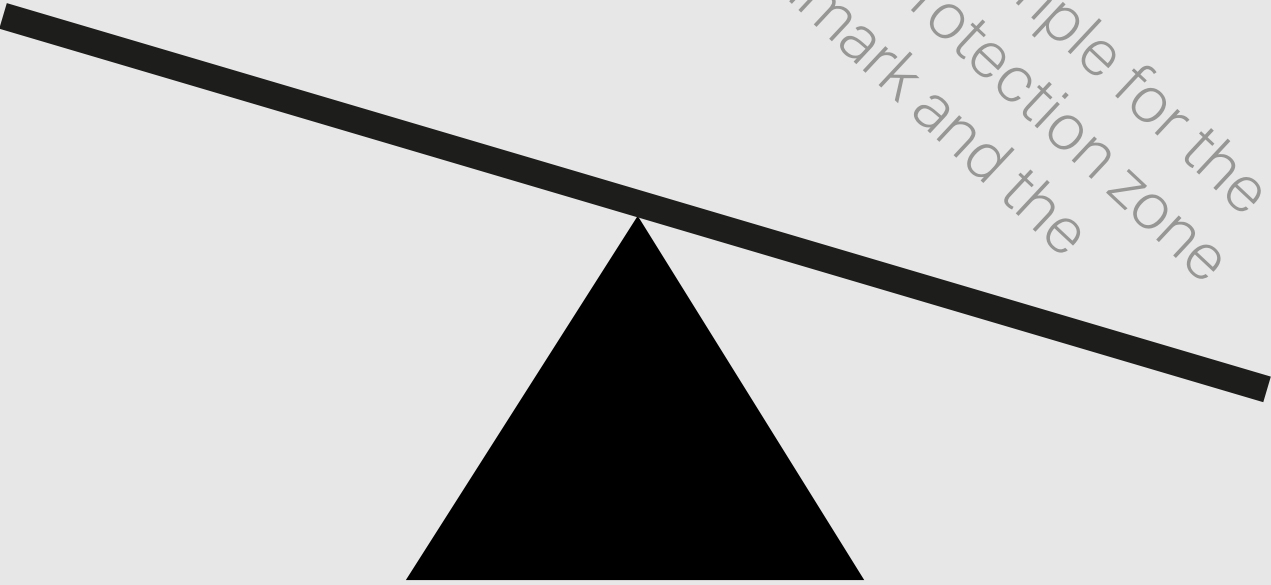

Second Case - CAIROKEE Endorsed
In endorsement cases where our brand is being endorsed by another, we recommend using our wordmark alone, with its width is half the endorsed brand width.

CAIROKEE

A guiding construction example for the second case, using the protection zone guidelines of the wordmark and the relation in widths.

ALWAYS
IN BLACK
ON LIGHT
COLORS
ALONE

For a clear visibility with the Lion usage, only use it in black and on light color backgrounds that will achieve the contrast needed. It's off the table to use the Lion on any dark tone backgrounds that will compromise this contrast.

USE BLACK
FOR LIGHT
COLORS

CAIROKEE

AND WHITE
COLORS

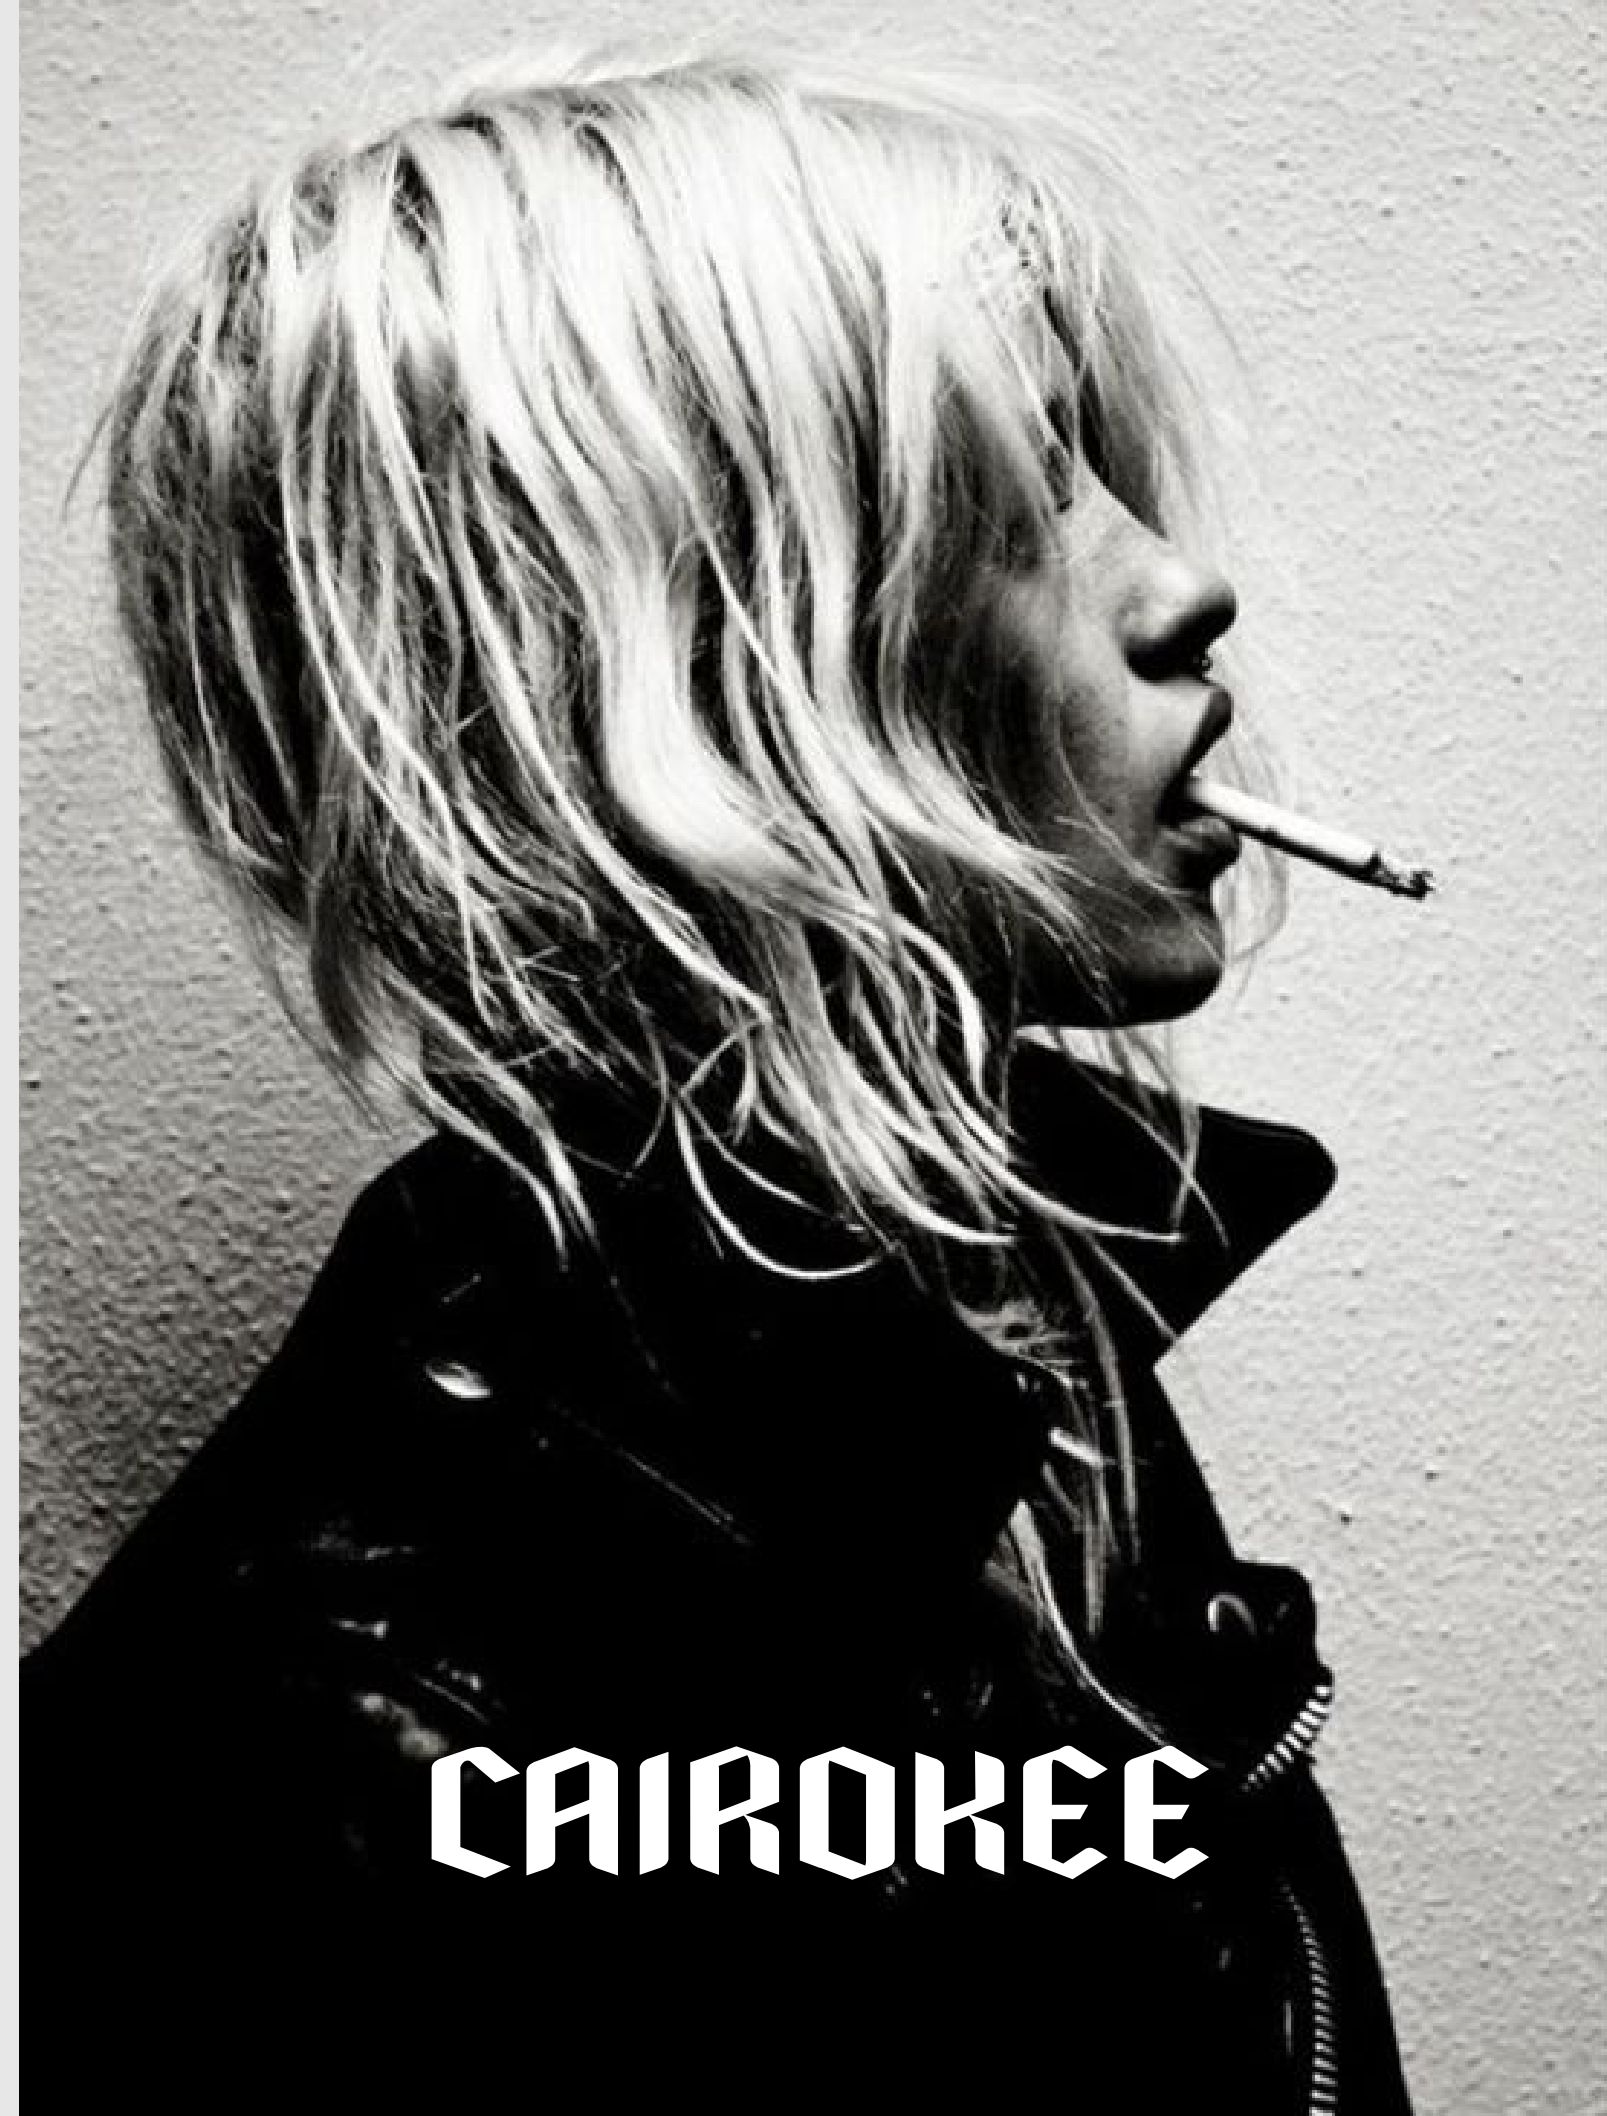

CAIROKEE

ONLY USE WORD MARK ON IMAGES

When using imagery backgrounds, please use only the wordmark.

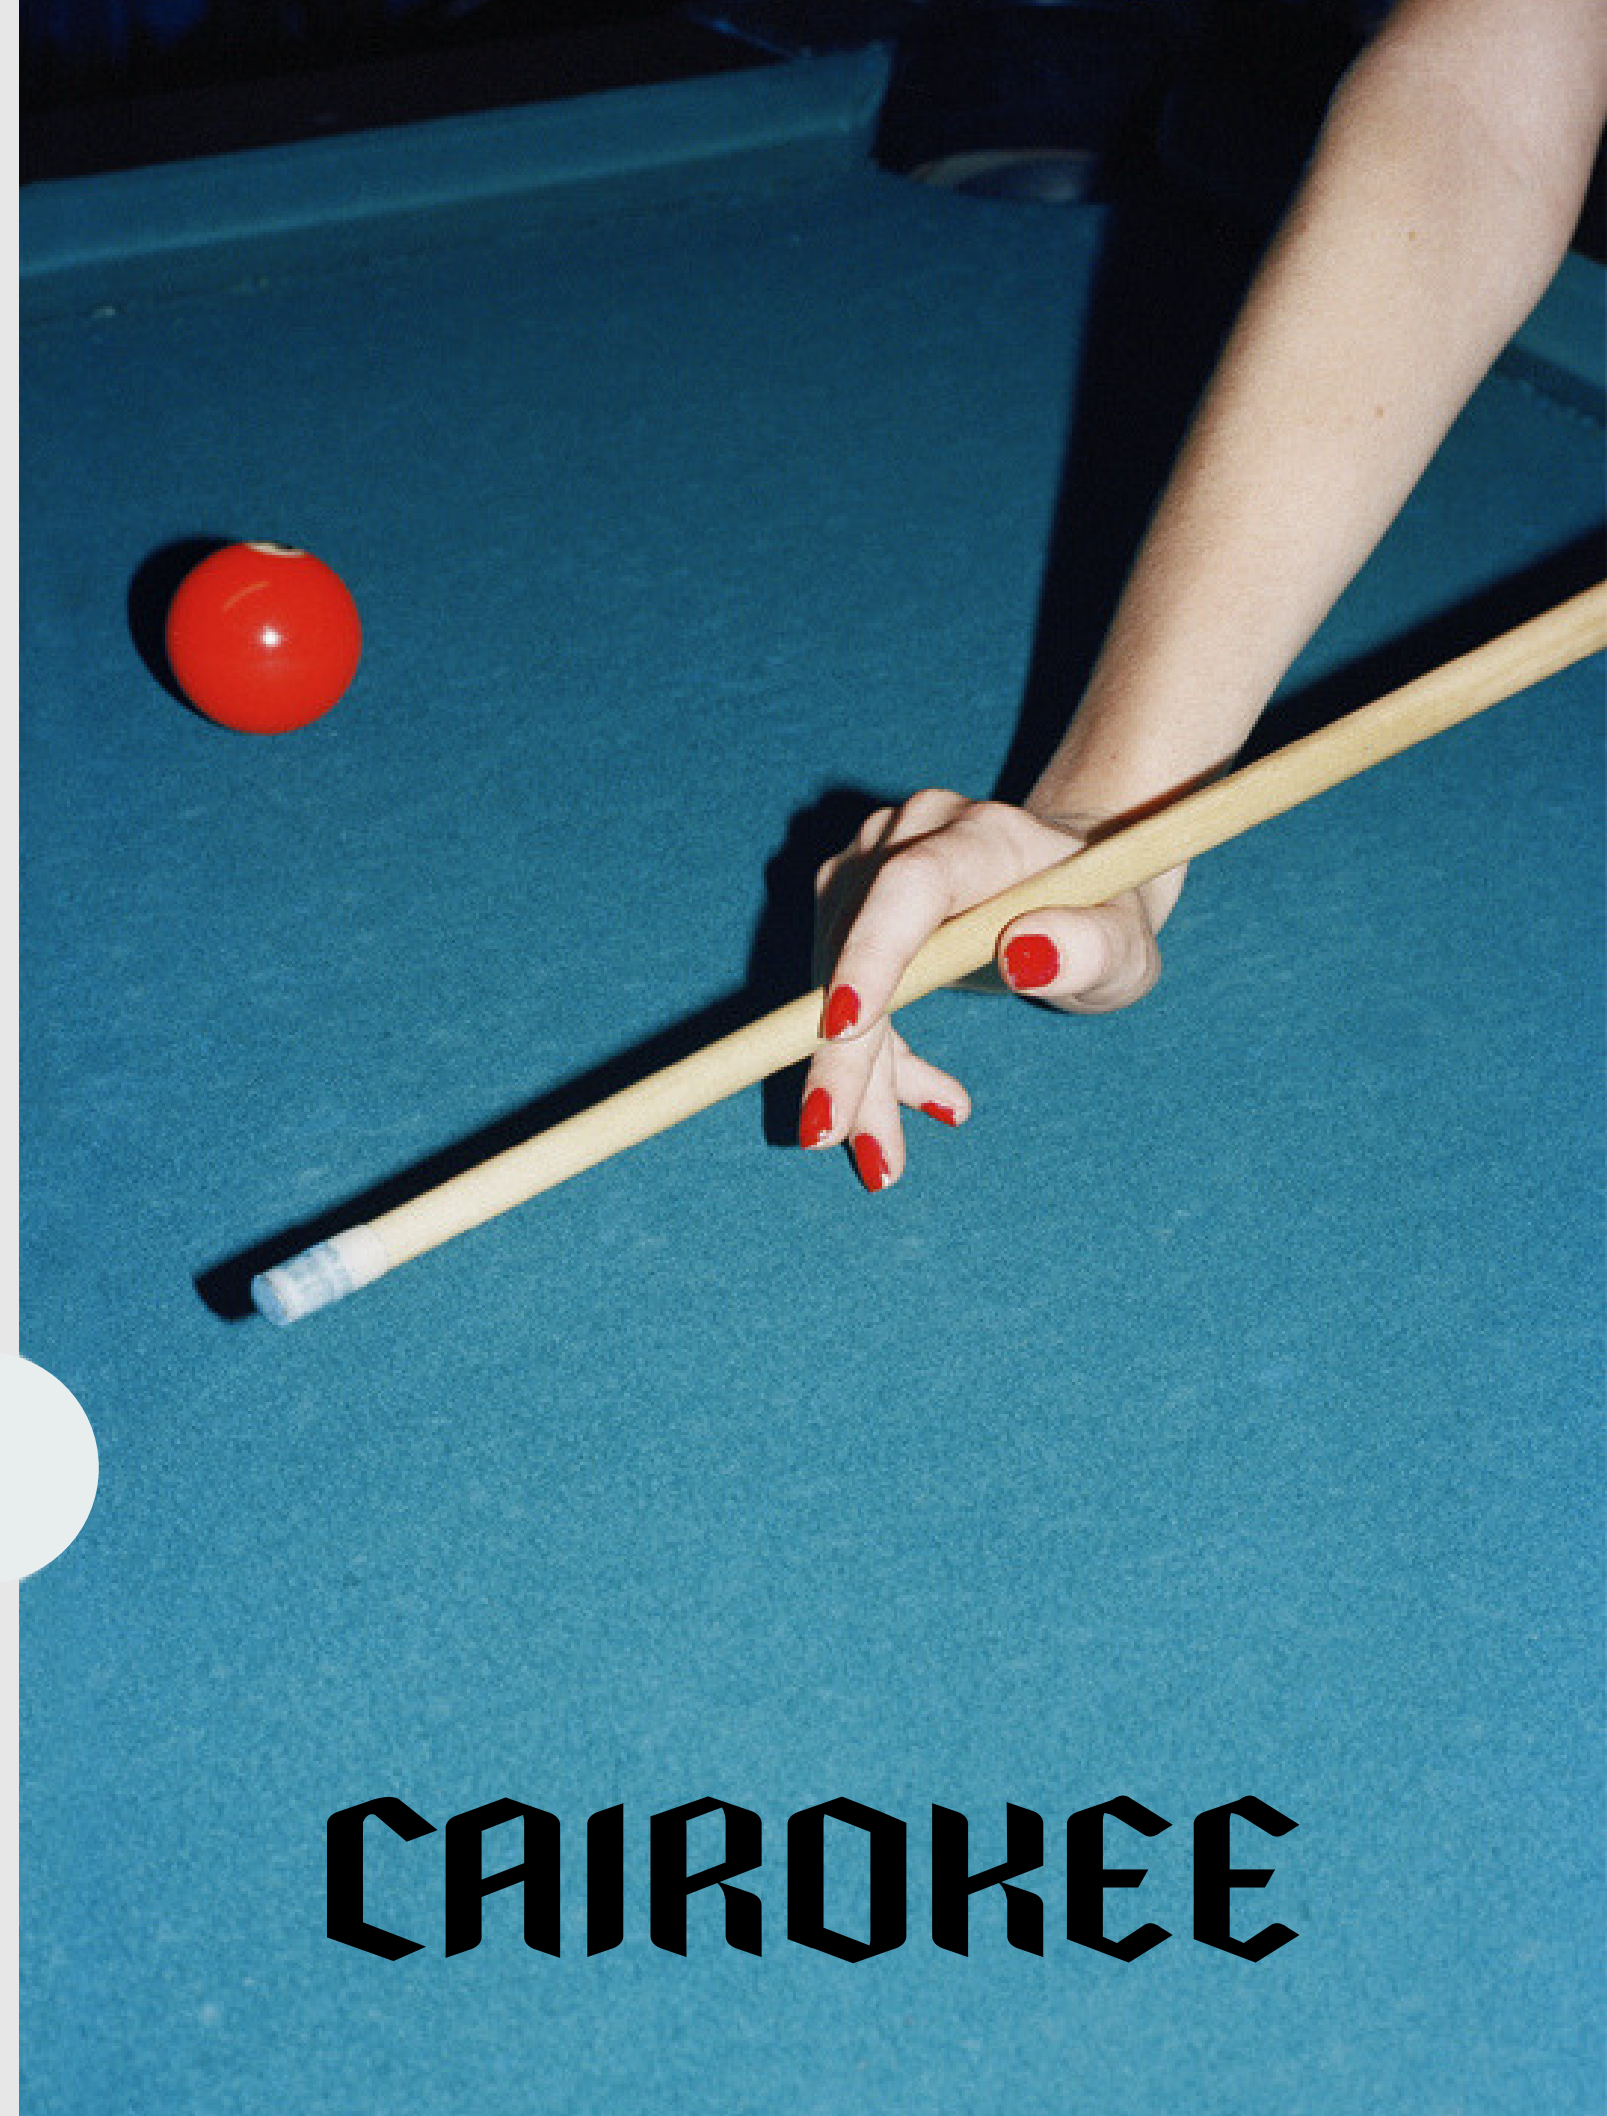

This ensures clear recognition and logo visibility. As the nature of the details and complex structure of an image could clash with the details of the Lion, which may compromise the strength of both.

The shown example is using B&W image, where the guidelines of usage of colors are applied, hence the white color of the wordmark on top of the black area.

ONLY USE WORD MARK ON IMAGES

As shown in this additional example of imagery backgrounds, the guidelines of usage with colors are applied. In this case the wordmark is in black, because the image is colorued and the choosen part o placement on the image is light not dark. So placing the wordmark in black was the correct application for clearance and visibility.

WE ARE ALWAYS BOLD
AND
SMALL

Our recognition is always important, even when the case doesn't involve using brand assets. This applies on using our brand name as part of the text in any given paragraph. Always make sure to make the brand name CAIROKEE in black, bold and caps regardless of its place in the paragraph to stand out among the text.

BLANK

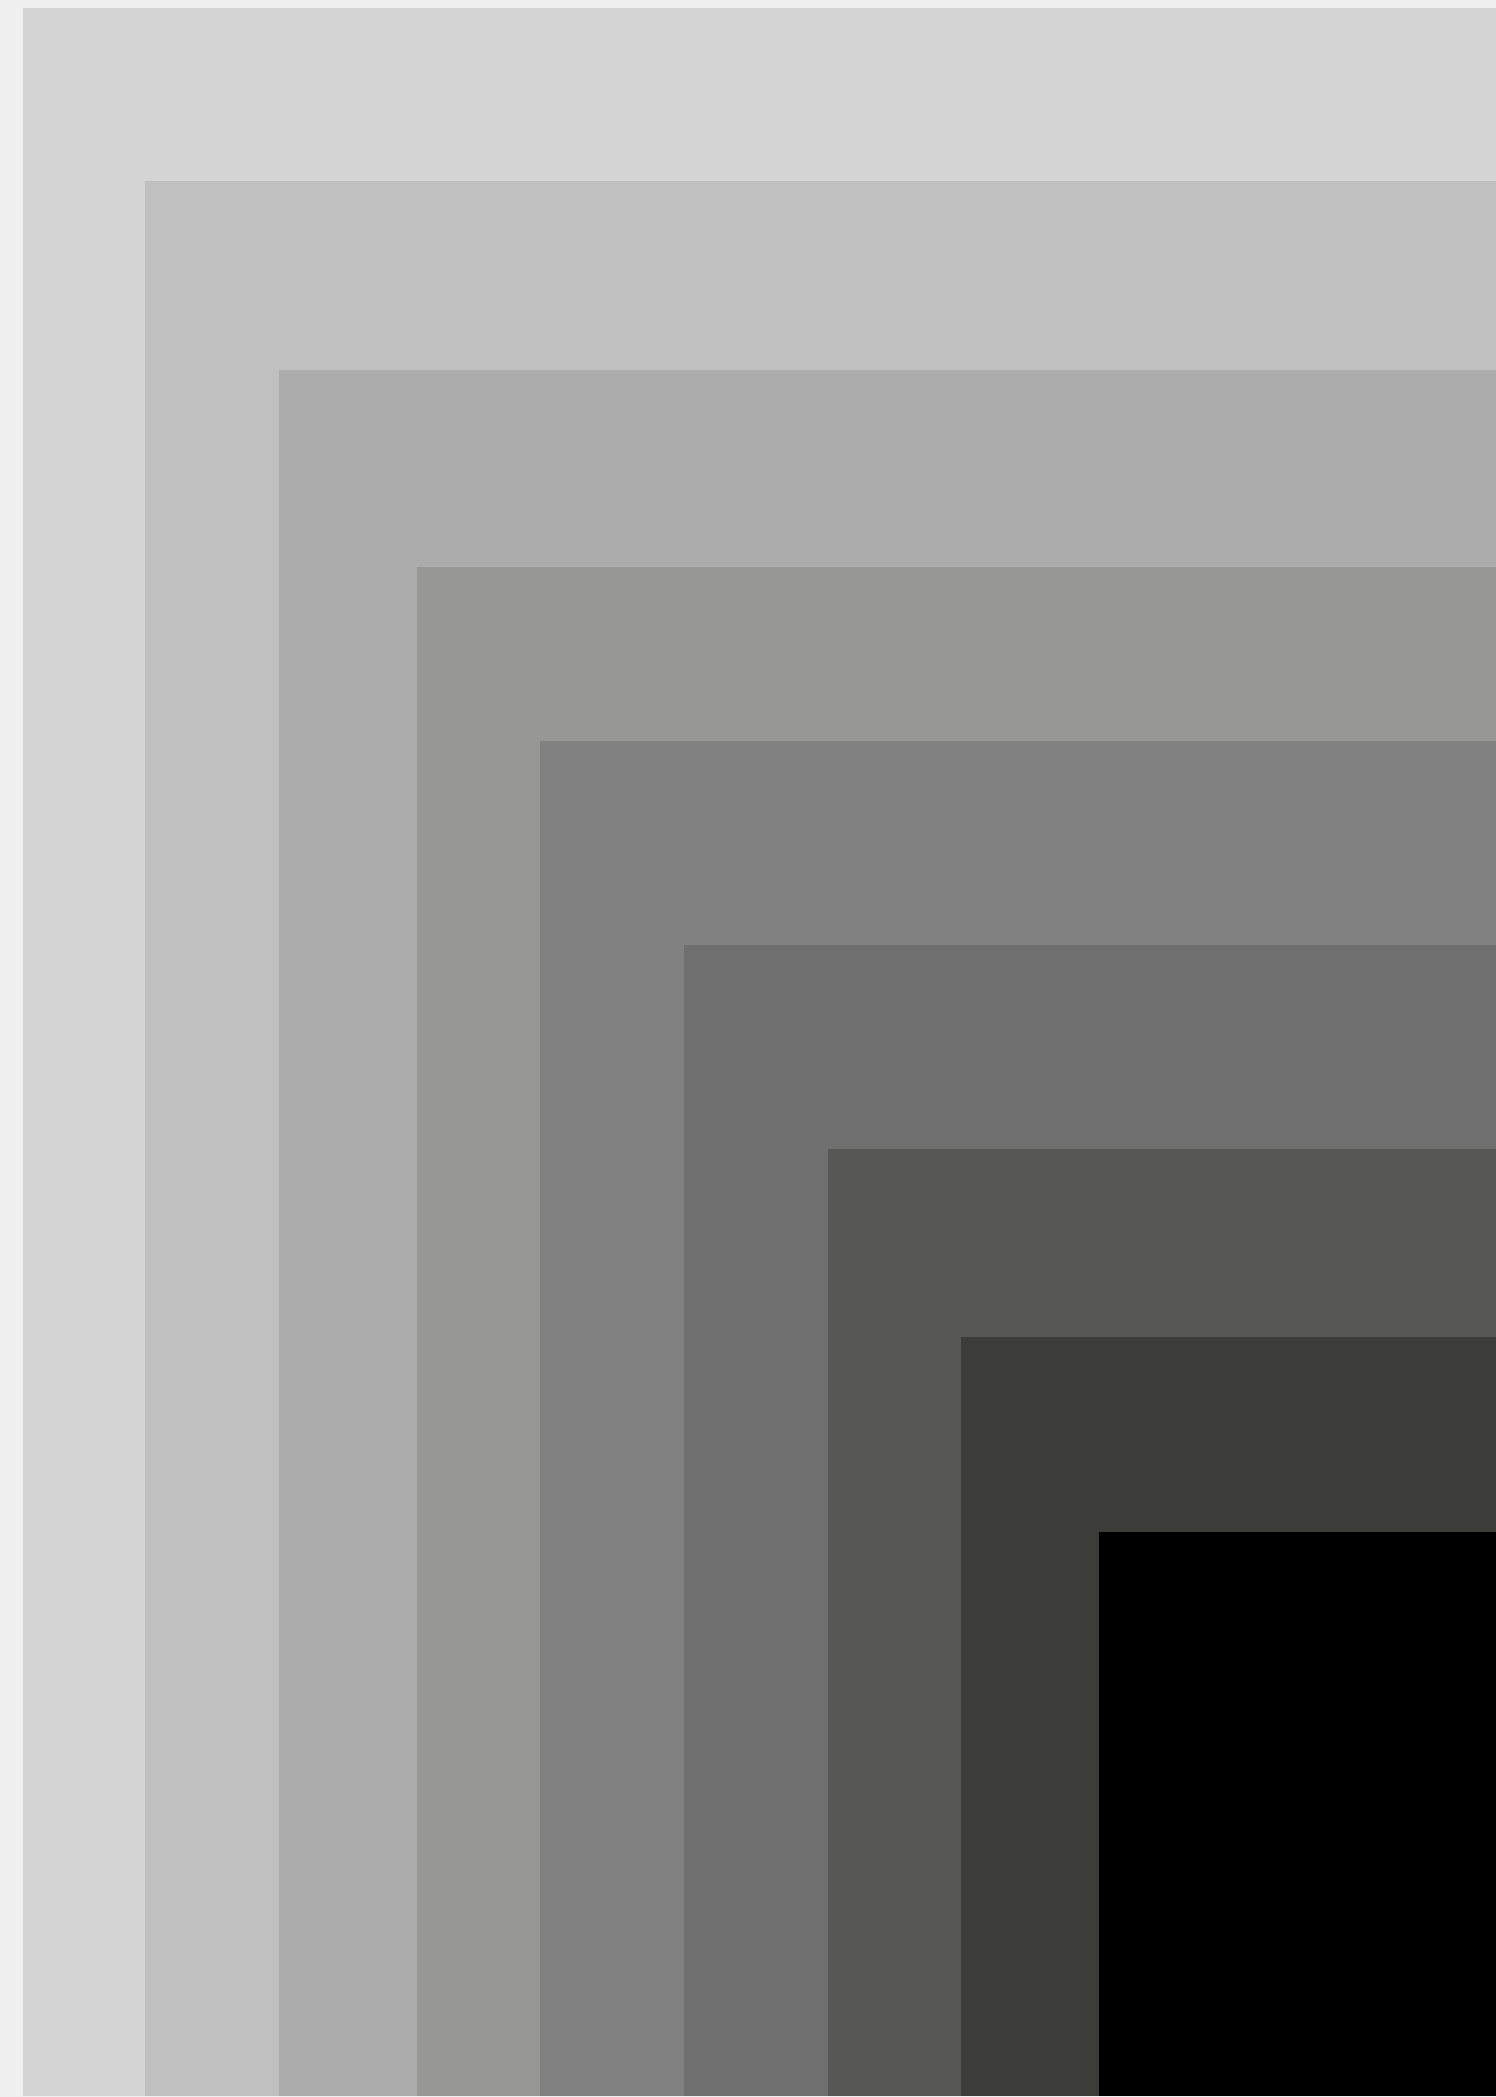

Our sole color for the Lion in all cases-except for one tiny-little exception is Black, 100% Pitch Black.

DEEP DOWN BLACK

Our visual appearance is based solely on B&W.
But for our identity we wanted to explore the gray world in between.

Widening our spectrum of shades (As well as our point of view)

The spectrum of shades could be used as a secondary-supporting shades in layouts, backgrounds, etc..
